MedAware Systems Named Top Start Up

November 7, 2019 - Broomfield, Colorado

MedAware Systems announced today that it has been named a top start up by The Tech Tribune. Companies were evaluated based on four criteria: Revenue potential, Leadership team, Brand/product traction, and Competitive landscape.

The Tech Tribune was founded in 2017 and delivers the latest technology news, in-depth technology articles, and insights on the hottest technology startups all over the world. In partnership with Crunchbase, their flagship journalistic endeavor is the Best Tech Startups series that is published each year for every major city and state in the US, and for the US as a whole.

“We are honored to have been named one of the tech top start-ups”, said Michael Willis, MedAware Systems’ CEO. He continued: “We have realized a remarkable achievement in harnessing human and artificial intelligence to collect and analyze all medical scientific evidence on the efficacy and safety of treatments, medical devices, and therapies. For the first time, pharmaceutical and medical companies can quickly use big data to empower regulatory filings, competitive analysis, due diligence, and to inform billion-dollar development decisions with all available evidence from published medical studies.”
